

SUNDAY EVENING PROGRAMME

2019-20

Hello!

Welcome to our 2019-20 Sunday night programme in Fitzroy.

In November I will celebrate 10 years in Fitzroy. From the moment I arrived I was very aware of the teachers of the Biblical studies and Christian thinking within the congregation. From the outset I was very keen to tap into such research, knowledge and articulate teaching. I believed that that would not only be a resource for us in Fitzroy but for the wider community too.

This year's Sunday evening programme is all of those dreams coming true. What you have in your hand, gives a very good character sketch of Fitzroy. The Bible is central, as it should be. The How To Read The Bible Series is in its second year. It has been so helpful as we have looked at the context of the original writing and the intentions of the writers. We have augmented the series with a few expert guest speakers.

Fitzroy is also a community that takes contemporary issues seriously. We believe there should be robust Christian apologetic in every issue that our world faces. There are no better thinkers to lead a series on our Global Challenges than David Livingstone and Stephen Williams.

Over the last ten years we have become known as a community that promotes the arts. This year's series sees us looking at the blues, pop and the classic songwriters.

Some contemporary worship evenings, a Reflective series through Lent and a short series from psychotherapist Chris Fry makes up a varied programme of breadth and depth.

Whether you are a Fitzer or a visitor, you are always welcome.

Grace.

Rev Steve Stockman

PASSION WORSHIP

Sunday mornings in Fitzroy are vibrant and formally informal! We have a number of rotating worship bands that give us a varied diet of praise.

Steve preaches - usually through the Revised Common Lectionary but is starting the year with a series called 'Being With'. Influenced by the writing of Rev Sam Wells he will be seeing how the name Emmanuel should inspire us to "Be With" people, pastorally and missionally.

We have a full programme for children and young people up to 16.
